EAA Implements Telecommuting Workforce for All Employees As part of the Work Safe Orders

San Antonio, TX – The Edwards Aquifer Authority (EAA) will transition to a complete telecommuting workforce, in consideration of the “Stay Home, Work Safe” orders issued yesterday by the Mayor of San Antonio, Ron Nirenberg and Bexar County Judge Nelson Wolff. Today, this plan will take into effect at the close of the EAA business day at 5 p.m., and continue through Friday, April 10, 2020. Previously, the EAA had proactively implemented a remote working situation for most staff. However, now all EAA employees will be working remotely, and the EAA headquarters at 900 East Quincy Street, San Antonio, TX, 78215, will be closed to the public.

We applaud our staff for continuing to do their part to provide services to our customers via telecommuting resources, and now it is in the best interest of our community to uphold the orders set in place and to be in full compliance. You may rest assured that we continue to operate and execute our mission: to manage, enhance and protect the Edwards Aquifer.

Roland Ruiz, EAA General Manager
